Summary

Born in 1990 in Kayseri, Turkey, I spent the early years of my life in Germany before continuing my education in Turkey. My professional journey has been shaped by both technical precision and creative vision. I graduated from Mimar Sinan Fine Arts University, Faculty of Fine Arts, Cinema and Television Department in 2018, after ranking 201st nationwide in Turkey in the Vertical Transfer Examination (DGS). My academic background combines electronics, media technologies, and cinematic arts, giving me a strong technical foundation alongside creative storytelling skills. I began my career in the media industry, working as a cameraman and editor on documentary productions and later as a news cameraman. In Istanbul, I worked as a Camera Assistant on major productions, contributing to the 72-episode TRT Haber documentary series "Bu Toprağın Canları," two feature films, over 100 music videos, and various commercial projects. These experiences strengthened my on-set discipline, technical expertise, and ability to operate effectively in high-pressure environments. In 2018, I transitioned into aviation and began professional paragliding training. In 2022, I earned my Commercial Tandem Paragliding Pilot license through the Turkish Aeronautical Association (THK), affiliated with FAI. Between 2022 and 2026, I successfully completed 1,397 commercial tandem flights, maintaining a 100% safety record. As a commercial pilot, I am responsible for meteorological assessment, risk management, operational decision-making, and passenger safety. Currently based in Munich, I combine cinematic storytelling expertise with technical precision and high-responsibility operational experience. My career reflects adaptability, discipline, and the ability to perform confidently in both creative industries and dynamic real-world environments. I am open to collaborations in film production, visual storytelling, and creative media projects.
